

An opportunity to hear award-winning Scottish Islay poet

James Knox Whittet

and the poetry of the late

Harry Corder Greaves

as well as supporting local poets

in

Crossing Borders

Saturday 23rd July, 6.30 - 9pm

at

Dolobran Quaker Meeting House.

Directions. Head south along the A495 through Meifod, out the other side for 2 miles. The A495 bends right and then left - take the turnoff sign-posted to Pont Robert. Over the hump-backed bridge and take the second right (there is a wooden finger post on a telegraph pole opposite the turn). Follow this track up the hill to Forge Farm and park there. Follow the track on foot (stout shoes, boots or wellies are advised) for 1/2 mile to the Meeting House.

See <http://dolobran.llanhub.uk/> for Google Map directions.

Free admission and refreshments. Donations welcomed in aid of funds to provide a shower and new toilet for visitors to the Meeting House and cottage.

Enquiries to Paul Jenkins 01938 811162